On a recent occasion a man, whose mind was somewhat obfusticated by an injury he had received, was married, and in reply to the all important question, "Will you take this woman to be your lawfully wedded wife?" replied, "Yes, and the cow and the heifer, and they ought to be fed." This answer was regarded as satisfactory.

—This is the month of roses. It is in order then to inform our readers that the new rose of the current year has been produced in England, and is regarded as a truly brilliant success. It is not a blue rose, nor a black rose, nor in any way a monstrous rose. It has just been exhibited at the Royal Horticultural Society's show in Kensington, by the Messrs. Veitch, of London, the leading "orchidists" of the world; belongs to the household of the "tea-roses," matches in color the superb crimson "China rose," and has been naturally enough baptized the "Duchess of Edinburgh."

—The editor of the Mount Ayr (Iowa) Journal became a little put out with the editor of the Bedford Argus and took occasion to remark that that individual was "a squirming squirt, a chicken-hearted youth, a diabolical jackassary, ape, hog, mullenstock (?), dog-fennel, tumble-bug, and toiling caterpillar!" The person thus addressed, evidently hurt by these assertions, replied that the editor of the Mount Ayr Journal was "all this and more too;" and added that he was "the but-cut of original sin, the quintessence of double-distilled nastiness, a foul bubble floating on the surface of a cess-pool, a dirty, mangy dog, and a foul disgrace to his own fleas."

Mind, it will not drive them away, but they will not bite as long as a faintest trace of the perfume remains. Below you will find a receipt for a superior article. Any druggist can put it up and the expense is trifling: Essence oil of verbena, (Limouis Trifoli) one drachm; cologne spirits, (not cologne water) ninety-five per cent., one pint; mix and agitate for twenty-four hours, then add distilled water, four ounces, and filter. Bathe the face, neck and hands well, and musquitoes will not trouble you.

—Santa Anna told us the curious story about his lost leg and in the following words: "Regarding my foot I must mention that I believed it was lost when the rabble took it from the tomb on the 6th of December, 1841, and dragged it through the streets; but yesterday a lady came to see me, telling me that her husband, who was an old colonel of the Mexican army, had preserved it and and recommended her to return it to me if I should ever come back Mexico. I am expecting this gift to-day at noon. I consider this conduct the more praiseworthy because the gift might have been made in 1853 when I was President, but then such action would have been considered an adulation." He had scarcely finished these words when the lady arrived with the promised foot. Dr. Antonio opened the box and examined his relic with interest. The foot was perfectly mummified, but well conserved.—Correspondence Alta California.

THE sleeping-car companies' interests are endangered by the pending civil rights bill. When Sambo and his Dinah demand a berth, white folks will not be apt to apply for the balance.

THE Conference Committee on the Finance bill have not been able to come to an agreement. The main difficulty consists in forming a bill that will receive the President's signature. The prospects of any financial legislation are now regarded as very unfavorable.

The country has received General Benjamin H. Bristow's appointment with considerable surprise. He is generally regarded as a good lawyer, and a poor financier. As a Solicitor-General he has a creditable record, but as a man skilled in financial affairs he has no record at all. But then "he served on Gen. Grant's staff."

WITH the coming of generous showers and a damp atmosphere, it becomes the imperative duty of all to assist in the effort to thoroughly cleanse the city. The co-operation of every householder is needed; and no householder with a particle of patriotism or common sense will hesitate to do his or her whole duty in this respect. There are hundreds of backyards, kitchens, cellars, wells, etc., that need renovation. All filth should be removed immediately. The Mississippi Valley, holding the refuse of an unparalleled flood, warns us to prepare at once.

WHEN Butler tried to take the civil rights bill from the Speaker's table and have it referred to the Judiciary Committee, with leave to report at any time, fifteen Democrats were absent, including two from Georgia—Messrs. Stephens (at home sick) and Young. The fifteen absent gentlemen may have been, and probably were, paired; but when a two-thirds vote is necessary to pass the bill, pairing will be fatal to the hopes of the minority, if persisted in. Every Democratic member should be in his place until the monstrosity is worried to death.

SOUTHERN CONSTITUTION

Grand Jury Presentments.

This gubernatorial fraud is as prodigal in the use of money as he is unscrupulous in the acquisition of it; and when the article gave out, he fell from favor. The Democratic carpet-baggers, who are anxiously scanning the breakers ahead, had no use for him, and his special retainers turned against their paymaster as soon as his pockets were empty. The new Governor called upon the State Auditor and State Treasurer, and then they began a systematic raid upon Moses' base of supply—the county treasuries. Nearly all of them are defaulters. The Treasurers of Charleston county fled, but the Treasurers of Fairfield and Orangeburg were arrested and put in jail. In the complications that followed, Moses tried to remove Humbert, the Treasurer of Orangeburg, and finally succeeded, we believe, through an alterative mandamus issued by the Governor's father.

At this stage of the plot another Richmond appeared, in the person of Solicitor Buttz, of Orangeburg. He had quarrelled with Moses about a small matter, but that quarrel led to the finding of a true bill, in Orangeburg, against both Moses and Humbert. And this brings us to the 29th ultimo, which was the day fixed for the trial of Moses, and the day when Moses' counsel solemnly assured the court that their client should certainly be on hand. Humbert was ready to swear the case through, and Solicitor Buttz claimed to have a bat-full of documentary evidence to convict the gubernatorial thief; but a bare can not be cooked before he is caught. It was only a breach of faith, which does not count against a man in the official circles that infest our unhappy sister State.

A caucus was held just before the time fixed for the trial, which was attended by nearly all the Radical leaders; and then and there a bargain was struck, under the terms of which Moses relinquishes all hopes of a renomination in return for the support of all cliques in these, his latest troubles. The case was then called, and no Moses appeared. His counsel thereupon moved that the case be stricken from the docket on the ground that a Governor can not be indicted before impeachment. The negro Elliott made a long speech in support of this position. The Judge was "impressed." Of course, he had not anticipated such a question. He must reserve his decision, and continue the case until the next term in October. The Court was immediately adjourned for the term.

The only man who was at all earnest in prosecuting Moses was Solicitor Buttz, and he acted from the promptings of a private difficulty. The Court and counsel seems to have regarded the indictment and all the proceedings as legitimated implements of political warfare. If Moses keeps his part of the bargain—and he cannot well do otherwise—we have heard the last of this attempt to punish the prodigal for his audacious peculations.

A Railway King.

The death of John Edgar Thompson created a deep sensation in New York and Philadelphia. No man, not even Commodore Vanderbilt who possesses far more wealth, controlled interests of equal magnit de. For twenty-seven years he had been connected with the Pennsylvania Railroad, the most powerful corporation in the country, and for the last twenty-two years he was its official head. It was he who organized and pushed to completion its connections with Chicago, and later still with New York.

The South owes not a little to his energy and enterprise. He was interested in our public works as early as 1836, when he accepted an engagement as Chief Engineer of the Georgia road. After its completion he became its general manager; and while acting in that capacity his fertile brain coined this city's corporate name. While he remained in the South he undertook several railroad enterprises, all of which prospered under his wise control. The bankrupt Montgomery and West Point road was carried to completion through his untiring labors, and he laid out the Nashville and Chattanoogn road as it was afterwards constructed. After his return to Philadelphia he did not lose sight of Southern interests and connections—thanks, probably, to the years that he spent in Georgia at the outset of his career. He was interested in the Texas Pacific, and in all the enterprises operated by the Southern Security Company; and to him we are indebted for the completion of the Air-Line route to Richmond before the panic stopped all railroad extensions on a large scale.

Mr. Thompson was in the sixty-sixth year of his age when a complication of diseases terminated his work. In social life he was highly esteemed, possessing an amount of polish and courtesy not often found in a pushing man of business. He leaves a wife to whom he was married about twenty years ago, but no children. His father was a Quaker of Delaware county, Pennsylvania, and the son retained a connection with the Society of Friends until his death. He left a large estate; and it is supposed that he carried out his oft-repeated intention of having it revert, after the death of his wife, to form a fund for the establishment of an asylum to shelter and educate the orphan children of the employees of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company who may lose their lives in the discharge of their duties.

Sharp and Quick.

We will publish to-morrow Mr. Stephens' fifth communication in reply to Mr. Hill. The thing is getting both interesting and lively.

THE FREEDMEN'S BANK.

Charter for a New Organization.

WASHINGTON, June 4.—The Senate to-day passed the consulate, diplomatic and pension appropriation bills, and then discussed without action the question of cheap transportation.

Also passed the House bill to amend the charter of the Freedmen's Savings and Trust Company. It provides that within ten days after its enactment, the Comptroller of the Currency shall appoint three commissioners, who under his direction and control of the Secretary of the Treasury, shall take possession of the books and all assets of the bank and its branches, and proceed to wind up all the business of said bank and branches, and pay into the United States Treasury all the money realized therefrom. The Comptroller of the Currency is to pay dividends as results may justify. The commissioners are to receive a salary of three thousand dollars per annum, and give bond of $25,000 each. It is provided, however, that if in the progress of winding up the business the commissioners and Comptroller of the Currency shall at any time be of the opinion that the bank can resume under its old charter, they may with consent of the Secretary of the Treasury turn it over to the Board of Trustees, who shall then resume their present powers.

WASHINGTON, May 23, 1874.

EDITORS CONSTITUTION: The Senate passed the Civil Rights bill this morning at 6 o'clock, having spent the night in its discussion. It is now before the Judiciary Committee in the House. That it will pass the House is beyond question, for all the Republicans desire to pass it, and can get it up. The country may, therefore, prepare either to submit to it and enforce its provisions or test its constitutionality in the courts. It was very ably discussed in the Senate. Senator Thurman made a most constitutional argument against it. His speech reminded one of the days of Webster, Clay, Calhoun, Preston and Berrien. It passed by a vote of yeas 29, nays 18—a majority of sixteen.

Colonel B. W. Frobel left to-day for Georgia. He has been here for four months, looking after the interests of the Atlantic and Great Western Canal in particular, and the subject of cheap transportation in general. He is a very learned civil engineer, and having devoted his attention for several years to the question of transportation, its relations to the commerce and productive resources of the country, he has thoroughly mastered the subject. He has labored, at his own expense, with irrepressible energy and pertinacity, upon this question, before members of Congress, committees and caucuses, counsels and conventions, and, like the man who could not speak three words without having "pudding" in it, he has spoken but few sentences that did not have "Atlantic and Great Western Canal," "water lines," "cheap transportation," or their equivalents, in them. He is, beyond doubt, the best informed and the most thoroughly posted man upon this subject in the country. He is rendering not only the State of Georgia, but the whole country valuable service. And the country will appreciate him in a few years, when the grand system of water communication, of which he is the author, shall have become a success.

Both Houses have adopted a resolution to adjourn on the 22d of June. They have worked for six months daily, and often nightly, and have yet done but little except the routine legislation. Over three thousand bills, embracing almost every variety of subject, have been presented and most of them considered. The true theory is as little friction in the machinery and as few burdens upon the people as possible. VISITOR.

Removal of Army Headquarters to St. Louis.

[By telegraph to the New York Tribune.]

WASHINGTON, May 29.—While the bill for the gradual reduction of the army was under consideration in the House to-day, Gen. Butler attempted to get in an amendment providing that the headquarters of the army should not be removed from the seat of government. This movement on the part of Mr. Butler had the sympathy of nearly everybody in Washington, but doubtless owing to the unpopularity of its advocate it was not adopted, not even a division being called.

Gen. Sherman, in consequence of the encroachments of the Secretary of War, has irrevocably decided to remove the headquarters of the army to St. Louis. He will, of course, be accompanied by his staff, and will take his records with him. The time set for his departure is October next. This proposed change is the subject of much adverse criticism here. The explanation that army operations, being confined to the West, can be better directed from a Western city, is not a valid one. On the same ground the general land office might be removed to Omaha, to be nearer the unoccupied public lands, and the Treasury Department to New York, where the great monetary operations of the country are carried on. If the truth were acknowledged, General Sherman leaves Washington for the same reason that led General Scott to take himself and his headquarters off to New York, namely, a desire to avoid the annoyance of continually recurring disagreements with the Secretary of War about the management of the army. The Secretary is the superior of the General in authority, and it is only human nature that the military officer, with his intimate knowledge of his profession, his life position, and with a salary double that of the Secretary, should not submit with good grace to the orders of the civilian official who goes back to private life after a few years' service.

In General Scott's case, it was not much matter whether he was in New York or Washington. The old man was tolerably contented to play the role of ornamental figure-head for the army, and rarely sought to meddle with the administration of its affairs. Not so General Sherman. With his active temperament and decided military tastes and genius it is impossible for him to hold the position of General of the Army without seeking to exercise some of the functions of a commander. He has never agreed with Secretary Belknap as to where the dividing line between their functions should be drawn. Once he tried to make all the heads of bureaus in the War Department report to him as staff officers, which would have reduced the Secretary to a sort of head clerk to register the orders of the General. Secretary Belknap, who is about as positive a man as General Sherman, would not submit to this, and the President sided with him. Since then General Sherman has spent much of his time in traveling. He has visited nearly all the military posts in the West and has roved over Europe and Asia Minor. He no doubt feels that his position is that of a supernumerary, and his move to St. Louis is interpreted as meaning that he has made up his mind to live where the society is more congenial to him and where he can enjoy the honors of his rank without the annoyances to which he has been subjected in Washington. In many respects this is to be regretted. There is no man in the country who so thoroughly understands the organization and uses of our army as Gen. Sherman, and he is almost the only officer who has shown a capacity for original thinkings on military subjects. Still, in time of peace the General is like a fifth wheel to a wagon. There is nothing he can do of his own motion that does not interfere with the proper functions of the Secretary of War. Gen. Sherman has come at last, it would seem, to a realization of this, and has determined to accept the situation and make the best of it.

SOUTHERN CLAIMS.

A Bill Extending the Time for Presentation.

WASHINGTON, March 3.—In the House the bill extending to third of March, 1875, the time for presenting the claims to the Southern Claims Commissioners came up for action. It was amended by providing for additional commissioners.

An amendment was offered by Cobb of North Carolina to extend the jurisdiction to claims for the occupation of buildings and grounds in the Southern States by the army or navy of the United States, which was rejected by a vote of 111 to 111.

Another amendment was offered by Cobb, that the service in the Confederate army or militia shall not be taken as conclusive proof of disloyalty, was also rejected. The bill was then recommitted to the Committee on War Claims.

The rest of the day's session was giving to the bill for the mouth of the Mississippi. No action was taken.

THE WEATHER.

WASHINGTON, June 3.—For the South Atlantic and Gulf States, Tennessee and Ohio Valley, partly cloudy and decidedly warm weather on Thursday, with local rains in the first and last named districts, southeast to southwest winds and light changes in the barometer.

The author of "Sinbad the Sailor's Adventures" must resign his laurels. One W. H. Stokes has been exploring a recently discovered cave near Drytown, Amador county, California, and writes to the Sutter Creek Independent an account of his investigations. Mr. Stokes vouches for the exact truth of his narrative in every particular, and we doubt not the reader will readily credit it, from the following specimen description of one of the chambers the party entered. After journeying for a mile and a quarter through the underground passages, Stokes and his party found themselves in a "long, but rather narrow chamber, the walls of which were not limestone, but a yellowish brown and black iron ore." This chamber beats Sindbad's magnetic mountain, which drew all the nails from his ship, and thus caused it to fall to pieces, all hollow. Listen to Mr. Stokes: "Upon entering this chamber we noticed a most peculiar disturbance of the magnet, the needle constantly vibrating from side to side, and frequently whirling around for a minute at a time with a velocity which rendered it invisible. We also experienced a singular sensation—a sort of chill, appearing to commence at the back of the neck, and extending to the very tips of the fingers and toes. As we advanced in this chamber we found these singular sensations to increase in intensity, until it became almost unbearable. We ventured on still further, however, though it became very evident that we could not long remain in that mysterious place. I omitted to mention that the walls and floor of this chamber, especially particular rocks therein contained, were highly magnetic, and became more so the further we advanced toward the north. One of the party who carried a hatchet had it suddenly wrested from him by a magnetic rock near which he passed, and the combined strength of four of us was insufficient to detach it. A pocket knife, which accidentally dropped to the floor, had to remain there, none of the party having sufficient strength in his fingers to pick it up. Mason, who had put on for the occasion a pair of miner's boots the soles of which was filled with nails, could walk with difficulty, and happening to step upon a portion of the floor unusually magnetic, found himself suddenly affixed thereto, and unable to move. He was compelled to withdraw his feet from his boots and leave them there, tearing up his coat and wrapping the pieces around his feet to protect them from being cut by the rocks. We had remained in this chamber about ten minutes, when suddenly the chilling sensation began to increase, the feeling being as if a cold and piercing wind was blowing upon us, and becoming each moment more intensely cold. We hastily retreated, and soon reached, feeling more dead than alive, the large chamber containing the hot spring. We then retraced our steps along the twine, and in a couple of hours emerged from the cave."

Nellie Grant's Husband not a Rich Man—Intended for a Drummer.

From the Chicago Post and Mail.

The enterprising young Briton who has captured our President's daughter is not a man of wealth. On the contrary, he is barely well-to-do. In this matter I speak by the card, my information coming direct from Mrs. Grant. His father, Edward Sartoris, has a small estate in Southampton, and is somewhat interested in a Sheffield manufactory. Algernon originally came to this country with an idea of serving the Sheffield house as a traveling salesman. He had comparatively little education and no profession. It had been reported that he was a civil engineer, but this is untrue. If he ever studied engineering at all, it was only for a short time, and entirely too little to acquire a knowledge of the science.

The death of his elder brother made him heir to his father's estate, but as Sartoris, Sr., still lives, it can do him no good for the present. All the income he has is such as his father allows him, and may be cut off at any moment. He is also sadly deficient in morals, his chief pleasure being apparently the society of a party of jovial fellows over a glass of good wine. Unless he mends, it will be a sorry alliance for Miss Nelly.

The house in England, also, which has been the subject of so many glowing descriptions, is nothing but a neat little cottage on the elder Sartoris's grounds. It is by no means an elegant building, and can only be maintained as Sartoris, Sr., permits. Nevertheless, I am told by people who know the family that Algernon Charles Frederick's mother is a splendid woman, and that she will make it very pleasant for Nellie.

RECIPROCITY.

A Delegation Visits the President—Bristow.

WASHINGTON, June 3.—The Senate, in executive session to-day, confirmed the nomination of James F. Green to be Appraiser of Merchandise at Charleston, South Carolina.

A committee of the New York Produce Exchange left New York last night for the purpose of urging a reciprocity treaty with Canada. They had interviews to-day with the President and Secretary Fish, and were very favorably impressed with the reception of their views by these officials.

Gen. Bristow will probably enter upon his duties as Secretary of the Treasury on Friday.

NEW HAMPSHIRE.

Meeting of the Legislature.

CONCORD, June 3.—The Legislature convened to-day. There were four Republicans and four Democrats elected by the people, leaving four vacancies to be filled by both Houses to the Senate. The Senate will not elect its officers until these vacancies are filled. In the House Albert R. Hatch, Democrat, was elected Speaker, receiving 176 votes, Hon. James W. Emery, Republican, Speaker last year, had 136 votes.

Derby Day.

LONDON, June 3.—The betting just before the commencement of the race for the Derby to-day was 8 to 1 against Geo. Frederick, 4 to 1 against Courenne de Fer, and 11 to 1 against Atlantic. Courenne de Fer is owned by Lord Rosebery—not Sir Totten Sykes. An immense crowd witnessed the race. In addition to the above, the following ran: Aquilo, Volturno, Reverberation, Tipster, Ecossais, Glenamonde, Leolinus, First Lord Trent, King of Tyre, Whitehead, Selsobill, Sir Arthur Rastlevar, Belford, Sister to Rischworth, and Algebra.

Notes.

MADRID, June 2.—General Loma has been appointed Captain-General of the Basque provinces.

BAYONNE, June 3.—A battle is imminent at Estella, where the Carlists are in great force.

WASHINGTON, June 3.—In the Senate to-day Senator Windom's cheap transportation resolution was discussed at some length and will be continued to-morrow.

The Catholic Pilgrimage.

ROME, June 3.—American and English Catholics in Rome proposed to give a public reception to the American pilgrims on their arrival here, and to make other demonstrations of sympathy; but the Pope deprecates such a display as it might cause a disturbance.

The Presidents and General Superintendents of the Central and Union Pacific Railroads were looking over the ground in the vicinity of Ogden, Utah, on Saturday with a view of determining a permanent junction of the two roads.

PHILADELPHIA, June 4.—At a meeting of the Board of Directors of the Pennsylvania Railroad to-day Col. Thos. R. Scott was elected Hresident. Geo. B. Roberts promoted to First Vice President.

THE SUPREME COURT

HON. HIRAM WARNER, CHIEF JUSTICE.
HONS. H. K. M'CAY AND R. P. TRIPPE,
ASSOCIATE JUSTICES.

Decisions Rendered in Atlanta, Ga., June 2, 1874.

Specially reported for THE CONSTITUTION by Henry Jackson, Supreme Court Reporter.

Seaborn Lawrence vs. George B. Halleck. James Henderson vs. W. H. Thompson. Dabney P. Halloway vs. G. B. Halleck. Complaint, from Jasper.

McCAY, J.

In a suit on a promissory note, given as expressed on its face, "for money due on policy" the defendant pleaded that he was induced to sign said note by a false and fraudulent statement, made by the plaintiff's agent with intent to deceive him, that if he became dissatisfied with the contract before the note became due he might withdraw and the note should be returned; that he had become so dissatisfied, and so notified the agent, who had refused to return the note:

HELD, that it was not error to dismiss the plea, as an effort to engraft by parols a condition upon a written contract, and that the allegation that the parol promise was made with intent to defraud does not help the case, there being no charge that the condition was by mistake or fraud left out of the written contract.

Judgment affirmed.

W. A. Lofton; Key & Preston, for plaintiffs in error.

C. L. Bartlett, Reese & Reese, for defendants.

Early W. Thrasher vs. B. H. & N. Overby. Equity, from Morgan.

McCAY, J.

1. When a bill was filed to enforce an award, and the defendant set up that the award was the result of a mistake on the part of the arbitrators, setting out in his answer the evidence introduced at the hearing, and the plaintiff replied that there was other evidence before the arbitrators:

HELD, that whether such evidence was in fact before the arbitrators, was a question of fact for the jury.

2. If upon an examination of a brief of the evidence, upon which an award is founded and upon a hearing of the testimony of the arbitrators, it appears that the award is founded upon a mistake upon a material point, as that a certain item of an account has been twice charged against one of the parties, the award should be set aside and the jury proceed to decree as to the real rights of the parties.

Judgment reversed.

Thrasher & Thrasher, Billups & Brobson, for plaintiff in error.

A. G. & F. C. Foster, for defendants.

The Home Insurance Company vs. The City Council of Augusta. Injunction, from Richmond.

TRIPPE, J.

1. A license is a right granted by some competent authority to do an act, which, without such authority, would be illegal.

2. The tax called a "license tax," imposed by the City Council of Augusta, by the ordinance of January 5th, 1874, upon foreign insurance companies doing business within the city, is a tax, and not a license.

3. The City Council of Augusta has power under the charter of the city to tax occupations, businesses, etc., and a foreign corporation which has an agency and a regular agent for the purpose of transacting its usual business within the city, is liable to be taxed.

4. A tax on occupations, businesses, etc., is not in legal contemplation a tax on property, so as to be subject to the ad valorem and uniformity rules of taxation prescribed by the Constitution, and therefore a tax on fire insurance companies, different from what is imposed on life insurance companies, does not make the tax obnoxious to any constitutional requirement.

Judgment affirmed.

Salem Dutcher, for plaintiff in error.

J. C. C. Black; H. Clay Foster, for defendant.

J. J. Morrison, et al. vs. Robt. Crawley. Complaint, from Morgan.

TRIPPE, J.

1. When a defendant pleads that he is security to the note sued on, and that it has been altered without his knowledge or consent, he is not entitled to a motion to take a verdict, on the plaintiff's closing his case after introducing the note, in evidence without other testimony.

2. If a motion to non-suit should have been sustained in that stage of the case, yet if the defendant, after it is overruled proceed, and both he and plaintiff introduce evidence on the issue made by the plea, and the evidence is sufficient to authorize a verdict for plaintiff, it will not be set aside, and a new trial granted because of the refusal by the Court to grant the non-suit.

3. If the defendant put in evidence the testimony of the principal as to what he said to the payee, at the time the words were added to the note which are complained of, for the purpose of showing that he, the principal, was to be exclusively bound for the additional liabilities caused by those words, it is competent for the plaintiff, in rebuttal thereof, to prove all that the principal said at the time, as part of the res gestæ. And if it be proved to be not competent to charge the security with knowledge of and consent to the change, he should ask the Court by its charge to the jury, or when the evidence is admitted, so to limit its effect.

4. There was no abuse of the discretion of the Court in refusing to grant a new trial on the ground that the verdict was against the weight of the evidence.

Judgment affirmed.

Billups & Brobston, by brief, for plaintiffs in error.

A. G. & F. C. Foster, for defendant.

G. S. Faunin, administrator vs. P. R. Thomason. Motion, from Morgan.

TRIPPE, J.

1. On the trial of a motion made under the relief Act of 1868, to open a judgment rendered in 1867, upon a note dated February 13th, 1861, and due at twelve months, it is not competent for the defendant to prove that in April, 1861, he tendered bank bills in payment of the debt, and that the creditor, or his agent, then refused to accept the bills, or any payment of the note.

2. Where such a motion is filed on the further ground that the creditor had agreed during to the war to receive in payment of the debt seven-thirty (7-30) Confederate Treasury notes and Georgia bonds, and that movant, by sale of cotton, had procured such notes and bonds and tendered them, which were refused, and it appeared that the movant had kept them until the trial, but collected the interest which accrued on the bonds and notes for his own use:

HELD, That the collection of the interest by the movant was an appropriation of the bonds and notes for his benefit, and he can not claim that under said statement of facts the debt is discharged and satisfied.

Judgment reversed.

Fannin & Billups, A. G. & F. C. Foster, for plaintiff in error.

Reese & Reese, for defendant.

THE moonlight excursion to Stone Mountain last night was a huge success. Between three and four hundred ladies and gentlemen went down. The rain cooled off the atmosphere and rendered the trip delightful. The lateness of the hour prevents a more extended notice this morning. We hope the ladies will get up another soon.

THE DAVIS CASE.—Mr. W. R. Davis, whose arrest on a charge of cheating and swindling was noticed in yesterday's CONSTITUTION, has been sent back to Gainesville for trial. A Mr. Findly came after him with a warrant, and he was turned over to him at three o'clock. The two started back for Gainesville. By reference to our special telegram it will be seen that Davis was subsequently released.

TEMPERANCE.—Rev. S. L. Rotjnaugh, who, for the last three months, has been residing in this city, has been commissioned Deputy Grand Worthy Chief Templar of Georgia for the State at large, and has entered zealously upon his duties at Jonesboro, and will soon visit McDonough and points in central Georgia. He is represented to be a scholarly and agreeable gentleman, of stern integrity and enthusiastically devoted to the temperance cause.

Gold Fields of Lumpkin County.

We had a pleasant call yesterday from Mr. J. R. Bartlett, who is now engaged working the Bobfield's gold mine in Lumpkin county. He has sunk a shaft down to the Chestatee river, and is mining in the bed of the river. Mr. Bartlett is enthusiastic over this section and pronounces it the finest mining country in the world, echoing California and Australia. There are some three mills now actively engaged, and three or four more in course of construction. The Hand Gold Mining Company put down an iron pipe 1,200 feet long at a cost of $42,000 to conduct the water to the mines. He exhibited to us some specimens of the gold-quartz rock and a lump of deposit gold weighing some 26 pennyweights.

The Bohemian Glass Blower.

Professor T. Gretner is giving in our city an exhibition of his skill as a glass blower, which is simply wonderful. He manufactures toys of every description and with surprising rapidity. Many of the articles he forms from melted glass would deceive any one unless they had seen the Professor make them. He is undoubtedly thoroughly accomplished in this delicate and difficult science. His entertainment alone is worth more than the price of admission. In addition to the Professor, the visitor can see two glass steam engines in motion, and a representation in glass of the blood circulation. Both of these are beautiful and interesting. The Professor exhibits every day from nine A. M. to nine P. M., next door to Pope & Fox, on Whitehall street. His exhibition is as interesting as it can be, and we can say to our readers that by calling upon him they will see many wonderful things done in glass blowing that will astonish them. Give him a call.

THE CONVENTION.

At 12 M. yesterday, with his usual promptitude, Rev. D. E. Butler, President, called the Congress to order in the Senate Chamber.

On motion Mr. E. Taylor was elected permanent Secretary, with Messrs. King and L. F. Livingston, assistants.

The Secretary read the call of the President for the Congress.

The States were called when the following delegates responded:

Col. Phillips moved a resolution that delegates sent up to this Congress from any association, and Masters of subordinate granges, be admitted as members, and requested to enrol in their names, which was adopted and the following names were added from Georgia:

Macon—E. Taylor.

SPEECH OF PRESIDENT BUTLER.

The Convention having perfected its organization, President Butler addressed Congress in a short and pithy speech. As Georgians, we receive and cordially accept the presence of our brethren from the other cotton States. We are glad that you are here. You represent in part the great agricultural interests of the Cotton States—an interest not to be comprehended by a single view. The necessity for this Congress is patent; unless we help ourselves, we will be unable to solve the problem in which our destinies are involved. [Applause.]

CROP STATISTICS.

Mr. T. J. Smith submitted the report of the committee on crop statistics, which was referred, without reading, to the following committee:

Jones, Arkansas, chairman; Mills, North Carolina; Taylor, South Carolina; Smith, of Georgia; Chambers, of Alabama; Maxwell, of Tennessee; Wardlaw, of Florida; Lang, of Texas, and Gladney, of Mississippi.

REPORT ON DIRECT TRADE.

Gen. A. H. Colquitt submitted the report of the Committee on Direct Trade, (the same submitted to the National Agricultural Congress, and published at the time,) pending action on which the Congress took a recess until 3 o'clock P. M.

Afternoon Session.

Congress reassembled at 3 P. M.

Owing to the absence of General Colquitt, action on the report of the Committee on Direct Trade was suspended.

PAY FOR EMANCIPATED SLAVES.

Mr. L. F. Livingston offered the following resolutions:

Whereas, The question of compensation for the slaves emancipated by the authority of the United States is now agitating the public mind in some sections, South and North; therefore

Resolved, That this Congress of the Cotton States earnestly recommend the national legislature, at the present session, to enact a law authorizing the payment in full value for all slaves, directly or indirectly, freed by their authority—one-half of said value to be paid to the former owners and the remainder to the said slaves.

Resolved, That the United States Congress caused to be issued treasury notes, non-interest bearing and legal tenders, redeemable one-third in 20 years, and the remainder in 60 years, and upon a duly perfected roll from each State, issue said notes to the Treasurers thereof, taking receipts for same, to the amount due each State and by such detailed plans as in their wisdom they may deem best, to be paid directly to the parties entitled to the same.

Mr. Livingston supported his resolutions in a terse and practical speech.

Rev. A. G. Nunnally advocated it on the ground of right and justice to the owners, and in the light of precedent established by New York.

Col. T. C. Howard hoped that the resolutions would be withdrawn, as in his opinion there was nothing in them but trouble to this section.

Mr. Bridges, of North Carolina, hoped that the Congress would get to its legitimate business instead of discussing outside issues.

On motion the resolutions were tabled by yeas 30, nays 13, in order to reach the regular order. The resolutions will probably be taken up to-day.

DIRECT TRADE.

The report on direct trade was made the special order for Thursday morning at 9 o'clock.

Col. W. H. Chambers of Alabama offered the following resolutions, which were made the special order for Thursday:

Resolved, That as farmers and planters, we heartily sympathise with, and will co-operate, in the efforts now being made, to transact through our own ports and merchants our exporting and importing trade, and we especially and favorably commend and heartily endorse the "Direct Trade Union of the Patrons of Husbandry," organised under charter of the State of Georgia, and recommend this great Trade Union to the favorable patronage of all Patrons in our different sections.

Resolved, That we will give preference to and with our patronage, and in sustaining such mercantile houses in the South, as shall engage in the business of direct importation.

CHEAP TRANSPORTATION.

Col. D. S. Johnston offered the following, which was adopted unanimously:

Whereas, We recognize the fact that cheaper means of transportation is of vital importance, not only to the agricultural but to the other great interests of the country, and that this can be secured by the improvement of our rivers and the construction of artificial water lines connecting these in one national system of internal navigation.

Resolved, That this Congress heartily approve and endorse the report of the special committee on transportation, recently made to the United States Senate, and we earnestly hope that the policy recommended in said report will be adopted by Congress at an early day.

PERFECTING THE ORGANIZATION.

Mr. Bridges, of North Carolina, offered the following, which was adopted:

Resolved, That the Presidents of the State Agricultural Societies and the Masters of the State Granges, and others who may be entitled to appoint delegates to this Convention, notify the Secretary thereof of the various appointments as made, and that the Secretary keep a roll of said appointments.

CROP REPORTS.

Mr. Bridges, of North Carolina offered the following, which after discussion was adopted:

Resolved, That the President of this Convention appoint a Committee of three or five from each State, whose duties shall be to memorialize the Legislatures of said States in connection with the statistics thereof by having a uniform system of fixing the tax list and to add such columns for the various productions as may be ordered, and also a column for the amount of commercial fertilizers purchased, and the product of cotton, grain and other food crops for the preceding year.

MISSOURIANS ENROLLED.

John M. Green, of Kennesaw Grange, offered the following which, after discussion, was tabled.

Resolved, That in order to maintain our Southern status and improve and encourage every means by which we will be permanently benefited commercially and financially that we recommend our Southern cotton planters to invest and cause to be invested by capitalists all money not necessarily needed in connection with their farming interests, in manufactures and the improvement of our great facilities for the same at home, among us, knowing as we do, that we have every natural advantage of water powers, climate, etc.

Mr. Nunnally favored amending it by inserting railroads, supporting his amendment in a speech of great vigor and beauty.

Mr. Johnston moved to amend by inserting also "water routes." Both amendments were accepted.

Mr. Wilson, of Florida, editor and proprietor of a newspaper, (paper publisher of the Washington, Ga., Independent) opposed the amendment relative to railroads. In Florida railroads had been a curse. They were anacondas swallowing up the wealth of a country and crushing it.

Colonel George W. Adams opposed the amendment relative to railroads.

Mr. Wardlaw, of Florida, moved to amend by inserting "turnpike and shell roads."

On motion the resolution and amendments were tabled.

GOVERNOR SMITH.

Messrs. Colquitt, Nunnally and Smith, committee to wait upon Governor Smith and invite him to visit and address Congress, reported that Gov. Smith regretted that he would be unable to address them owing to an affection of the throat, but that he would attend the Convention Thursday morning.

Congress then adjourned until 9 A. M. this morning.

Direct Trade Union.

The Direct Trade Union of Patrons of Husbandry met in the Senate Chamber at 9 o'clock yesterday—L. F. Livingston in the chair. E. T. Paine was elected Secretary.

The Masters of the State Granges of Tennessee, Texas and Mississippi, were invited to seats on the floor.

The Executive Committee reported a constitution and by-laws, which were read and final action postponed.

The Convention adjourned, subject to the call of the Chair.

The Convention was called together at 5 P. M., and adjourned until 8 P. M.

At 8 P. M. the 13th section of the constitution was discussed at considerable length.

The following amendment, offered by Mr. J. B. Jones, was finally adopted:

"Until further ordered by the Stockholders, no one shall be allowed to take stock except he is a Patron of Husbandry, and that any stock that may come or fall into the hands of parties not Patrons of Husbandry shall not be voted except by a stockholder who is a Patron of Husbandry."

General W. Phillips offered the following resolutions, which were unanimously adopted:

Whereas, The "Direct Trade Union of the Patrons of Husbandry was organized for the purpose of establishing the most reliable sources of communication, over the most direct lines, at the least possible cost, between the producer and consumer or manufacturer, and whereas, the Patrons of Georgia assumed the initiative and obtained a charter from the Georgia State Legislature, liberal in its provisions, the objects, advantages and charter being embraced and set forth in a circular published by E. T. Paine; and

Whereas, It is not only desirable but necessary to the interest of all patrons, and especially of the Southern and Western States, that there should be perfect harmony with absolute unity of action; therefore,

Resolved, That it is not the purpose or desire of the Patrons of Georgia to assume the entire management, control and direction of this great movement.

Resolved, That we favor no special line of transportation or market, but look to an honest and efficient directory to seek out and arrange with that line, seaport and market offering the greatest advantages to the shipper from his particular locality, whether by Galveston, New Orleans, Mobile, Brunswick, Savannah, Port Royal, Charleston, Wilmington or Norfolk.

Resolved, That we not only invite, but most respectfully urge the Patrons of our sister State to organise and unite on our charter with the right of representation in the Directory as shall be for the interests of all.

Rev. D. E. Butler offered the following, which was adopted:

Resolved, That when the Patrons of Husbandry in any of our sister States shall have subscribed $30,000 or more, and paid in their assessment of ten per cent. with other assessments to the stock in this company, each State so subscribing shall be entitled to representation in the Board of Directors.

Mr. E. Taylor offered the following:

Resolved, That the pamphlet entitled the objects and advantages of Direct Trade Union meets our views; and, therefore, it is ordered that 10,000 copies shall be printed for distribution throughout the Cotton States with such revision and additions as may be deemed necessary by the Executive Committee.

Dr. T. P. Janes offered as a substitute that one thousand copies of the address, with the resolutions just adopted, be printed for distribution.

On motion, both resolutions were referred to the Board of Directors.

The Convention, after an able address from President Colquitt, adjourned subject to the call of the Chair.

Direct Trade.

We have just read, with heartfelt pleasure, the able address made to the Patrons of Husbandry in the Southern and Western States by our esteemed friend, Captain E. T. Paine, the efficient Secretary of the "Direct Trade Union." We cannot express our profound admiration for the persistent manner in which this gentleman has carried out to its present organization this great movement, nor can we too highly praise that courage which, despite all that has been said and done to defeat this object, has actuated Capt. Paine from the beginning, in steadily working and speaking for its speedy organization, even when he stood almost alone, with only a very few friends standing by him. Truly, "The Direct Trade Union" is, as a corporation, his child, the offspring of his brain, and, as such, he may now point with pride and joy to her in her early womanhood, bidding fair to attract around her such a host of admirers as to overshadow all of her competitors.

As a treatise on political economy, Capt. Paine's address to the Patrons of Husbandry is a production of which he may well be proud, and of which his friends (of which number we claim to belong) may truly say, "Well done; we are proud of you and your offspring—the Direct Trade Union."

Yesterday Gov. Smith pardoned Samuel Taylor, convicted of simple larceny in Bibb County Court, at last November term, and sentenced to twelve months in the chain-gang.

The Governor has recently refused executive clemency in the following cases:

Turner Blackwell, convicted in Morgan county of murdering Elbert Prince, and sentenced to be hanged April 14, 1871, but commuted by Gov. Bullock to imprisonment for life.

Alfred Cooper, sentenced to the penitentiary for ten years, from October, 1869, on the charge of voluntary manslaughter.

John Walton, of the convicts employed at Stephens' pottery, from Richmond county.

The Atlanta Benevolent Association.

It will be seen by advertisement in another column that this Association will hold its first annual meeting this evening at James' Hall at 5 o'clock. It was organized in February last, and has therefore been in operation only about five months, but it has made a successful beginning in a very important work.

The objects of this organization are, first, by a general and systematic effort to provide for the poor and destitute of our city, thus removing the evil of street begging and of indiscriminate and wasteful alms giving. The officers of the Association visit the various wards of the city and make themselves acquainted with the condition and wants of the poor, reporting to the various church societies such as are immediately connected with those characters, and furnishing food, fuel, clothing and rent to others who need such assistance. The Association also seeks to furnish employment to all who are able to work.

Another aim of the Society is to establish a home for the destitute and helpless, in connection with which some simple industries may be organized, that both furnishing employment and aiding in part in support of the charities of the Association.

This good work is already well begun, and the good and noble ladies of our city who have it in charge deserve the warm thanks and the cordial support of our community.

We hope there will be a large attendance of our citizens at the meeting this afternoon. Officers for the ensuing year will be chosen.

A PARTY of some twenty-five or thirty ladies and gentlemen enjoyed the day yesterday at the residence of Major E. B. Walker, near Kirkwood. Some fished and others shot at a mark. Swep Billups was the best shot; next to him was Rev. R. W. B. Elliott, and next Col. E. F. Hoge. Swep Billups gave zest to the occasion by his unequalled performance on the violin. Dancing was the most attractive amusement, and an additional charm was imparted to it by Lieutenant P. J. Lowry calling out the figures in the elevated and incisive manner peculiar to "you'uns" when they call hogs early in the morning. The dinner was all that could be desired.

OUR ATLANTA LETTER.

Lumpkin Emigrants to the Gate City.

(Lumpkin Correspondence.)

ATLANTA, May 28, 1874.

Mr. Editor: In a distant for your "foreign correspondent" to get farther than the city of Atlanta in his excursion over the world to gather news for the readers of the Independent. In fact a Lumpkin traveler finds himself so perfectly at home in the Gate City, that he feels inclined to build for himself a tabernacle and stay. Old Lumpkin people abound here and are among the leading citizens of the place; they are found in all the professions and honorable occupations, and are all prospering. About seventeen years ago, I think, the first emigration from our town to Atlanta began.

JUDGE JAMES CLARK,

who was one of the oldest citizens of Stewart, and a man highly esteemed, led the way. He built him a beautiful residence, and other houses for business purposes. The Sherman raid left him the ground and some heaps of brick, but, with his characteristic energy, he gathered the remnants of his fortune, and in part rebuilt what had been wantonly destroyed. The old Judge appears but little in public now; his head is white with age, but his step is still quite strong, and when on horseback—as he now and then is seen—he would pass for a man of fifty.

You will remember that about the time that Judge Clark came to Atlanta, another citizen of Lumpkin left us also. He was at the time the foremost merchant of Lumpkin—a man of genial manners and popular with the people. By his excellent business management, he had accumulated a considerable capital which required investments that our Southwest Georgia could not offer.

MR. E. E. RAWSON

is the merchant alluded to. With wise forecast he chose Atlanta, and has steadily risen to be one of the leading men of the city; his name is in some way connected with nearly every public enterprise. I find him living at a charming place which has been by common consent named "the Terrace," on account of the terraced grounds, skirted with evergreens, and carpeted with lawn grass, that nearly surround his residence. Very recently he gave away his last daughter to Col. Westmoreland, a young lawyer of high standing.

MR. WILLIAM RAWSON

has so recently changed his residence from South-west Georgia, and so frequently visits our county that we have hardly learned yet to regard him as a foreigner. When you come up to enjoy a little recreation from the exhausting labors of editing the Independent, you will find Mr. William Rawson and his choice little family residing in a solid and stately house on Rawson street. I would know almost instinctively that William Rawson built the house. It is durable, chaste, well finished and will be a good building one century hence.

You want to hear something more about

THE LUMPKIN PEOPLE IN ATLANTA?

Well, here is Mr. Nutting, who once "kept store" as first in the firm of Nutting, Scott & Palmer. He is the same clever Nutting, with that capital family of boys and girls who used to be handsome and healthy little Lumpkin children. The boys have developed into first-class business men, and the girls are now nearly grown into fine womanhood. Then, again, here is Mr. Elon-Vorus, the honest miller, whose little mill on the Howchikka has been translated into brick flour mills in Atlanta. You also recall Dr. Hitchcock, of Stewart, who lived near Green Hill, and Logan, his neighbor, are both here; the former engaged in a prospering manufactory of soap, and the other in mercantile life. The Seymour boys are pushing ahead, and will take their stand as merchants bye-and-bye.

Mr. Marshall Clarke is practicing law with success; and Dr. William T. Park is entering on a lucrative practice. Dr. Park has very recently arrived and settled. He pronounces Atlanta his life-time home. So well known throughout the State as a successful physician, it is not a wonder that he has attained a good paying practice at once. By the way it was your correspondent's good fortune to be present with a choice company not long since at the doctor's house. The occasion was the marriage of Miss Della, his daughter, to Mr. John H. Goss, an elegant well educated gentleman, son of Rev. Mr. Goss, who formerly lived in Lumpkin. You observe that it was quite a Lumpkin affair. When you are permitted to visit Atlanta go to the gallery of Smith & Motes, on Whitehall street, and see a life-size photograph of the prettiest face in Atlanta. It is the picture of this lovely young bride.

AND SOME MORE STILL.

Mrs. Cathey and her household have also come to add to Lumpkin society in this city—and Mrs. Mathison too—who was noted in the Lumpkin church as "the salt of the earth." Her good face beams as kindly as ever. Mr. James White, her son, and his family, and Tom Moore, who began his career as a Lumpkin printer, and locked up a good form by uniting with a splendid Lumpkin girl, are among the fortunate emigrants. Mrs. Garrett is among the number of familiar faces that an old Stewart resident will greet while he remembers her popular husband who long ago departed this life in the Faith.

But I must not forget to tell you of the warm greeting which you are destined to receive if you will enter the dry goods house or the carpet tore of two merchants who pulled up stakes about nine years ago and stuck them down wisely and firmly again on Whitehall street. It is perhaps the full truth that have been, and are still, the safest and most successful dry goods merchants in Atlanta. Their prosperity has been remarkable, but it is the result of their fine business qualifications and indefatigable industry. Keeping only the choicest goods and dealing upon the strictest business principles, they have won a custom that extends to various parts of the State. Of such men, as well as of all the others which our little town has contributed to Atlanta, we may well be proud. It is also worthy of remark that all the Lumpkin Atlantese are good citizens, and nearly all are members of the church. The majority are members of Trinity Church, which has for its pastor a Lumpkin native, who entered the ministry after the war, and is now on his fourth year as the minister of Trinity congregation. The splendid church is largely the product of Lumpkin enterprise and wealth. It will cost, when completed, about fifty thousand dollars. Nearly one-third of the sum already expended was given by our old Lumpkin people. Among the contributions I notice that E. E. Rawson has given $1,000; W. A. Rawson, $3,700; E. P. Chamberlain, $2,000; C. E. Boynton, $2,000. And these sums will be increased. The building will be finished in 1875. But for the panic, it is probable that no delay would have occurred in its construction. When done it will be the handsomest church in Atlanta.

REV. CLEMENT A. EVANS,

I have a good many more things to write about in this running style, but I must check up at this point.

* * * * *

I beg to close by subscribing myself,
YOUR LUMPKIN CORRESPONDENT.

MILITARY COMPANIES.—We learn that over one hundred and twenty companies in the State have elected officers, who have been commissioned, and that Executive orders for elections have been issued to hold a score more; and by yesterday's the "Fulton Guards," a colored company of Atlanta, it is not probable that the State will receive from the general government, as its regular annual quota, enough arms to equip the present number of companies in the next twenty years. "And still they come."

CONSTRUCTION OF THE TUNNEL.

Mr. William Goodyear, the projector and builder of the celebrated ... characteristic enterprise lent all the way to Chicago for one of Pullman's magnificent palace sleeping cars, named the "State of Illinois" for the especial accommodation of the excursionists. The excursionists in Chattanooga yesterday morning and was attached to the train for Atlanta; but on arriving at Tunnel Hill, it was found that the mammoth affair was too big to pass the Tunnel, and thus the "State of Illinois" came to rest into Georgia. The conductor of the down train reports the car the most magnificent specimen he had even seen. The excursionists, however, will be sure to be disappointment, as the Western and Atlantic Railroad Company have provided a splendid day coach to take the passengers to Tunnel Hill, and they will get on board the State of Illinois at early bed time.

This excursion promises to be the grandest affair of the kind ever organized in the South.

THE CONSTITUTION will be fully represented, and full details of the trip may be expected from day to day.

It is understood that the press of other cities in the State will be well represented.

WE would call the attention of our readers to the advertisement of Horace Waters & Son, headed, "Waters' Concerto Parlor Organs," and for a description of them we can't do better than to copy the following:

New Feature in Organs—Waters' Concerto Parlor Organs.—The great merit of the concerto stop is, that it approximates nearer than any other to the human voice. If we avert the attention from the instrument while this delicate addition is being operated the impression is instantaneous that it is to the human voice under exquisite culture that we listen. Of course the origin of this improvement, and the exact manner in which its advantages have been made so prominent in this organ, are known to the patentee alone; but we doubt if the inventor can make it plain why the direct result has occurred. The effect of the concerto attachment is simply softening and vocalizing. It seems to catch a note that might have been shrill or reedy, and at once soothe into something as sweet and musical as a human whisper. The writer was informed by Mr. Waters that on account of the popularity of the new stop, the instruments were bought up almost as rapidly as it was possible to manufacture them.—Brooklyn Union.

DR. CALHOUN'S LIVER PILLS.

I AM engaged in the manufacture of the Celebrated Family Medicine, known as the Calhoun Liver and Anti-Bilious Pills, under the supervision and assistance of Dr. Calhoun himself. This Pill has been in use for the last 35 years, and has taken precedence over all other Family preparations by all that have used them. Thousands would certify to their great value if necessary. One fact should supercede any amount of certificates, and that fact is this: Dr. Calhoun has been physician to the Fulton County Prison for over seven years, when the number of prisoners ranged from 30 to 70, laboring under all the diseases incidental to this climate. With but few exceptions they have all been treated with this Pill, and astonishing to say during that long period not a solitary death occurred under his treatment. This fact is worth any amount of testimonials.

I am now prepared to fill orders from druggists, merchants and others. All orders sent me shall receive prompt attention. There is no type of FEVER, DYSPEPSIA, DIARRHŒA, DYSENTERY, RHEUMATISM, CHOLERA MORBUS, BILIOUSNESS and SICK HEADACHE, or other diseases of a Southern climate, but yield readily to this preparation.

For sale by all druggists.
